BOGART SE 6.1 FOR WINDOWS – INSTALL GUIDE

Click on download link for Bogart Windows on the website: http:// www.macrosystem.us
 When prompted for "Save As", on the left side, select a place or folder you will locate this installer file after the download is complete. Note the "File name" at the bottom of the menu. It's best not to re-name it. Click Ok and it will start the download. This could take a few minutes. The current file size will be a little over 100MB.

2. After download, find and click on the the newly downloaded .zip file on your desktop or in your desktop folder that you've selected. You will want to up zip this file with a program on your PC like WinZip. The WinZip tool will likely open as a default for most Windows users when you double click on the file.

3. Using your program to unzip the file (likely clicking on "1 click Unzip" button in WinZip), you will see the Bogart Install file labeled now as a ".msi" file. This will be saved on you C: drive, but you can drag and drop this .msi thumbnail shortcut to a folder or desktop. Double click on it to start.

4. You will see a "Preparing to install" message for a moment. Then the standard type of software license agreement page will appear. Read through the License Agreement text and then when finished, select the box for "I accept the terms in the License Agreement". Then click the "Install" button.

5. The Install Wizard will appear with a Status bar and it will start installing the files. This will take a minute. This will be likely followed by a User Account control menu that asks if you want to install the following program on your computer from MacroMotion GmbH. It's just making sure you are ok to download this product. Select "Yes".

6. The validating status bar will start. This will take another moment and then you will be prompted to close the wizard when it is done by clicking on the "Finish" button.

7. You should have a new button on your Desktop for "Bogart". (For users doing a new update, the Bogart icon will still be on the Desktop, but the Install Product menu will show your changed version number.) Click on the Bogart icon to begin working in the program. The main Settings menu will allow you to go into the "System" button and then choose "Install Product" menu. This will allow you to activate any license codes you may have purchased to upgrade the operating system to something like the Gold Edition or activate other Add On programs. New users can use this in a Demo mode or 30 Day Free Trial mode if they wish. The 30 Day Free Trial mods will be lacking some of the features found in the Gold Edition version, but you will still be able to load and edit video.
